SUPPOSED ATTEMPTED SUICIDE WAS ACCIDENT

Peter Saban, the Slavonian who was thought to have cut his throat in an attempt at suicide while temporarily deranged on the train at Bowie several weeks ago, is out of the county hospital. It appears now that Saban was not trying to end his existence, but that his injury was the result of an accident, but his inability to talk English was the cause of the erroneous report. Mike Saban, a brother, who has resided here for some time, states that Peter had been harassed throughout the trip by a Frenchman, who persisted in staying drunk. Neither man could understand the other and at Bowie the Gaul became so annoying that Saban appealed to Conductor Shale, who could not understand him. Before the train started for Globe Saban was eating an apple, which he was cutting with a penknife, when the Frenchman tried to pull him out of his seat and in resisting him Saban cut a gash in his throat. This story was corroborated later by the Frenchman himself. Saban's brothers were doubtful of the story until the Frenchman showed up and Dr. Wales, who attended Saban, stated that the gash in his throat was not made with suicidal intent.

Were in Colton Wreck
Mrs. A. C. Sieboth and daughter, Miss Alice, of Florence, were in the late Colton, Cal., train wreck, but were particularly fortunate. They not only escaped personal injury, but of the only two trunks saved from the wreck, one was theirs. The explanation of their good fortune is the fact that they live in God's country and He looks after the safety of its inhabitants.—Florence Blade.
